DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 7 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Takeyama et al..

Takeyama et al. (Fig. 3) shows a semiconductor memory device having all the elements as recited in claims 1, 7 and 11 as follows:

- a plurality of blocks (SA1, SA2, SA3 and SA4);
- signal lines (BSL_B_1, BSL_B_2, BSL_B_3 and BSL_B_4);
- a control circuit (BC, BD and BDSTAC) connected to the signal lines, the control circuit including selection generator circuits (BDSTAC) for generating selection signals for selecting one memory block of the plurality of memory blocks by externally input address signals (Add) and for outputting the selection signals to the signal lines;
- wherein the lengths of the signal lines from the selection signal generator circuits to the respective memory blocks are longer in proportion to distance from the control circuit to the memory blocks.

The signal driver circuit for driving the BSL signals is inherent.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over
Takeyama et al..

The only difference between claim 10 and Takeyama et al. is the use of inverters for the drivers. However, the use of inverters for drivers is well-known in the art to drive signals. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Takeyama et al. by using inverters for drivers in order to drive block select signals in a memory device.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 2-6, 8 and 9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Claims 2-6, 8 and 9 recite the detailed features of the selection signal generator circuits that are not found in the prior art.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Takemae et al. discloses a semiconductor memory device having a number of blocks.
